

RADIOLOGY DEPARTMENT EQUIPMENT SPECIFIC TRAINING

11 December 2010

Dear Customer,

Equipment specific training is a mandatory requirement of the Ionising Radiation (Medical Exposure) Regulation 2000. It may also prove useful for your governance department in helping reduce insurance premiums etc. We also believe that they are useful when applying for the Imaging Service Accreditation Scheme.

The equipment specific training forms we provide are used as an aid to start your ball rolling we are not arrogant enough to believe that they are fully comprehensive. We always appreciate any comments and suggestions you may have.

We would be happy to include any you might have in order to allow the whole radiation protection community to share them.

Although the forms are copyrighted, we allow express permission for you to copy, alter and distribute them freely.

Kind regards,
